Overdue Valley Ambulance Finally Arrives Tomorrow

Carmel Valley's long-overdue new ambulance is scheduled to arrive at the Village fire station tomorrow.

Delivery of the fully-equipped 1965 Cadillac ambulance was announced by Tom Hefling, Valley Red Cross drive chairman.

The ambulance is furnished by the Carmel Red Cross chapter for Valley use. Valley donations helped buy some accessories.

The station's first aid crew has responded to more than 700 calls since being formed in 1949, using these varied pieces of second-hand equipment:

--Crew members' cars from 1949-51.

--Dodge Power Wagon fire-truck until 1955.

--1942 Dodge ambulance donated by Mrs. Muriel Vanderbilt Adams to 1959.

--The City of Carmel's 1949 Cadillac ambulance which had been replaced there by a new vehicle.

The Valley's new ambulance will be delivered first to the Carmel Red Cross chapter house tonight. The Carmel chapter has donated it to the fire station here.

It will then be driven to the Valley, where Fire Chief Chip Collins and fireman Don Laird will welcome it, along with these volunteer firemen - first aid crew members:

Boyd Danielson -- the only remaining charter member of the crew -- Dick McKenzie, Charles Gansel, George Palmer, Reg Bennett, Mark Hattan, Craig Scherman, Don Cummings, Larry Cummings, Mal Tavares, Cres Crockett, Dean Diaz, Don Corona, Bill Ijams and Lou Allaire.

A BRIEF PREVIEW of the Carmel Youth Center fashion show Friday is given at the Jade Tree Motel by Tia Hennessy (left), Becky Rendrick and Steve King. Youth Center members, making sure local teenagers keep up-to-date, will model costumes from Gladys McCloud's and Boys Town. The annual fund-raising event is set for 8:15 p.m. at the Youth Center on Fourth and Torres Streets. Admission -- including entertainment by the Imperials -- is $1.

Revised Lanes On Pages 6-7

The latest version of the County's planlines for a four-lane Carmel Valley Road from Dorris Drive to Panetta Road are printed on pages 6 and 7 of this issue. Because of last-minute changes made by the County Road Department, these newer planlines differ from those formerly on display at the Outlook office. This new version was approved by the County Planning Commission on March 9 and will be before the County Board of Supervisors on Monday, April 12 at 2:00 p.m.

If the Supervisors uphold the Planners' decision, the planlines will be written into an ordinance and will be officially adopted, as were planlines for a four-lane Carmel Valley Road from Carmel Junior High School to Dorris Drive earlier this year.

Property Owners To Discuss Plans For Hotel-Resort

Plans for a proposed combination resort hotel-golf course-recreation center on 75 acres near Carmel Junior High School will be hashed over by Mid-Valley Property Owners Association next week.

August Nieto of Carmel, one of two co-developers, will show plans and answer questions about the project.

His plans have been deferred until the end of May by a Valley-wide six-month moratorium on all developments.

The session will be at 8 p.m. Wednesday, March 24, in the multi-purpose room of Carmelo School, according to John Anderson, member of the M-VPOA board of directors.

Nieto and Kevin Walsh of Carmel Valley have requested a use permit for the project under the name of Hatton Park Development Company.

Located between Carmel River and the junior high school, the development would be called "Hatton Park." Mrs. Louise Hatton of Corral De Tierra presently owns the land.

Included would be a compact par 66 18-hole golf course on 50 acres.

The remaining 25 acres would contain a 100-unit hotel, restaurant and golf pro-shop.

The hotel site rises some 35 feet above river level, removed from flood danger.

The acreage is zoned K-G-B-4, as is much of the Valley's open space. This allows "rural professional" usage which includes facilities of this type.

A use permit for the park is necessary, but no rezoning will be needed.

An access road, Camino de Hatton, will be on a 60-foot wide access strip just east of junior high grounds.

Chamber Still Opposes Walnut Lodge

The Carmel Valley Chamber of Commerce will continue its opposition to Walnut Lodge halfway house for the emotionally disturbed, directors decided last week.

The board, meeting last Wednesday at Reuben's Dinner House, voted to send to county supervisors a letter spelling out the board's position "on economic grounds."

Chamber President Rex White was instructed to send a letter similar to one sent to the County Planning Commission. The Commission ruled in favor of the Lodge.

Supervisors will hear an appeal on the planners' decision March 29 at 2:30 in the Salinas supervisors' chambers.

The chamber letter is expected to be considered at that time.

The board also expressed hope that a dwindling "lack of communication" between it and the Carmel Valley Property Owners Association would not disappear entirely.

Several directors strongly criticized the Outlook's role in local affairs to Outlook publisher Bill Norton, who is a director, and Outlook news editor Chuck Anderson, who was present as a reporter.

Those who spoke against the Outlook included Herb Brownell, Lou Gardner, Rex White and Ken Van Hagen.

Thanks Workers

Mrs. William Lemos, captain of the Mothers March of Dimes in the Mid-Valley area, wishes to thank the workers in her section whose efforts brought in over $100 for the charity, a more than four-fold increase over last year's collections.

The mothers who helped Mrs. Lemos were Mmes. Robert Harris, Al Knauff, William Cranston, V.E. Stradley; Richard L'Day, Clyde Hall, Carl Kunz, John Guizik, and Barbara Sherman.

BITS-AND-PIECES

By Betty Branch

Credit the following to Morden Buck:

QUESTION: What would happen if one of Clancy's pregnant patients had her baby while he was in the middle of a performance?

ANSWER: It would be a Caesarian.

The following item appeared recently in Professor Toro's column of that daily paper on the other side of our hills:

Walk Boys, Don't Crowd . . . In an advertisement in another newspaper there is an ad which one of my spies discovered, and which he feels should have much wider circulation than in the small weekly sheet in which it appeared. It reads:

WANTED: ½ to 1 acres Upper Valley, by Carmel Valley lover.

This item confirmed two of our longstanding suspicions: one, that Big Brother IS watching us, and, two, that he doesn't begin to appreciate our true worth.

According to the standards set by the textbook, "Weekly Newspaper Management," By Thomas F. Barnhart (Appleton, second edition, 1952), the "small weekly" referred to has been an unusually large one for more than two years. Furthermore, Professor Toro, your sentence is redundant. (In an advertisement in another newspaper there is an ad...Hevvins!)

Tales Out Of School

Mrs. Willie Belle Mason, longtime Robles Del Rio resident, is an especially beloved teacher at Carmel Junior High School. Many parents have long suspected that Mrs. Mason practices some mysterious alchemy within her classrooms -- and the following tale provides a clue. Charming and true, it was related by CJHS Principal Dan Yurkovich:

A young lad whose identity was not revealed to us asked for an audience with the Principal. After shuffling his feet a bit, the youth asked if he could be transferred out of Mrs. Mason's class. Could he take the same course from another teacher?

Countered Mr. Yurkovich, "Aren't you learning anything?"

"Oh, yeh, I'm learning a lot all right," answered the student sourly.

"Then why," Dan persisted, "do you want to leave the class? How do you get along with the other students?"

"Fine, I guess," replied the boy, looking more miserable by the minute. "The other kids are all okay."

"Maybe you don't like Mrs. Mason," Dan suggested.

"Oh heck," said the boy, "EVERYBODY likes HER!"

"You're learning the subject, you get along with the other students, you like Mrs. Mason," Dan recapitulated, "but you want out of the class. Can't you give me a reason?"

"It's something about the way she makes you feel," said the boy. "You're a dirty dog!"

Dan found this statement understandably astonishing and gently asked for further explanation.

"She expects you to be good," the young man burst forth. "She expects you to listen and try hard and behave and learn something. If you don't, you're a dirty dog."

"Does she call you that?" Dan enquired, beginning to get the drift.

"Oh, no," exclaimed the boy. "Mrs. Mason wouldn't say a thing like that! It's just the way she makes you feel about yourself."

"I see," said Dan Yurkovich. He recommended that the boy remain in the classroom another week or so and try to work things out. (This is pretty standard procedure in cases of this sort.) In a few days, Dan told the boy, they would have another chat and see whether he still felt that conditions were so intolerable.

At their second interview, Dan asked the student whether he still wished to transfer from Mrs. Mason's class.

"I guess it wouldn't be any use," said the boy regretfully.

Dan asked him what he meant by that.

"Well," cried the boy in baffled desperation, "If I left the class I'd be a dirty dog...I mean, I couldn't do that to Mrs. Mason. She expects you to stay there and behave and learn something. If I don't, I will feel even worse. So I might as well stay."

And he did, and presumably he's "learning something." ...Through careful listening and gentle questions, school administrators -- and frequently, parents -- sometimes learn things, too!

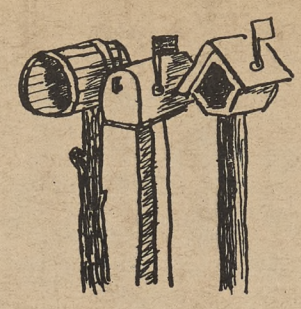
Take A Bow, Chuck!

Several readers have complimented the Outlook regarding its newly improved appearance. The paper seems to have a new "sparkle," they say. Then they ask, "Is it your new printing press that makes the difference?"

No, our job shop is now in operation but our largest press -- which within a few weeks at most will actually begin printing the Outlook here in the Valley -- is not yet rolling.

The improvement in the Outlook's "makeup" is 100% attributable to the nimble fingers and clever eye of Chuck Anderson, Outlook News Editor who has assumed complete charge of the composition of the paper and is also responsible for much of the newswriting these days. We're quite as delighted with the results as are our readers.

LETTERS to the EDITOR



Word From Clancy

Dear Editor:

It has been with much disappointment and not a little antipathy that I have both heard and read the arguments and contentions of a number of those in our Valley who oppose the establishment of Walnut Lodge Foundation in the buildings which used to be the Cowan School.

As a resident of our beautiful Valley for more than eight years, I have always been proud of our residents' awareness of the necessity to help those in need, trouble and sickness. Even more gratifying has been their unselfish willingness to do so even "above and beyond the call of duty."

However, in recent weeks I have seen something which disturbs me considerably. I refer to the manner in which a few of those opposing the Lodge's formation here have attempted to sway public opinion to their side.

It is one thing to back their view with facts and logic, but to use half-truths, sly insinuations and warped misconceptions of the purpose of the Lodge in an endeavor to frighten our people into accepting their opinions as truth is, to say the least, not in keeping with the way we in the Valley have been accustomed to attack our problems.

I shall not attempt to refute some of the more sensational chimeras which they would attempt to make us believe, such as "This will bring sex offenders, alcoholics, etc. to our Valley." These unfounded whisperings have already been well and truthfully answered and I am sure that our Valleyites are knowledgeable enough to readily see through such obvious attempts to frighten them into agreeing with the opposition.

I should like to point out that I have been unable to find any dissatisfaction with Halfway Houses in those communities where they are situated, or any stories of unpleasant happenings due to their residents.

As to the motivations of the founders of Walnut Lodge, I can say with pride that they are to the best of my knowledge altruistic. I can only resent suggestions that "the foundation is a scheme to fatten their pocketbooks." I have heard it said that should the Foundation fail and the property be sold, any money obtained would be divided among the founders.

This could not be further from the truth.

To rebut this scurrilous allegation there follows two sections from the Articles of Incorporation of Walnut Lodge Foundation:

"Article V: In the event of dissolution of this organization, the assets remaining after the

The names of many responsible people are connected with Walnut Lodge, and certainly there is no intention of its failure. Should this unavoidably occur, however, I wish to point out that there are local projects, such as the proposed in-patient psychiatric service at the County Hospital, which would be deserving of and eligible for the residual funds.

Walnut Lodge Foundation backs its arguments with fact. Can you, the people of Carmel Valley ask for less than fact to substantiate the allegations of the opposition when they come to you for support?

Regarding "Walnut Grove": There seems to be a misunderstanding regarding the purpose of the objections! Sad as it may seem that our "Beautiful Monterey Peninsula" is in need of such an institution; no one is fighting that idea.

The main objection is the location of it, in the middle of "Carmel Valley Village!" What most people have overlooked is that the new proposed school for the "Valley" is land almost across from the "Walnut Grove" and has already been set aside

Nation wide publicity attends the work of Carmel Valley attorney James R. Nielsen for his part in effecting a group plan for prescription drug insurance.

A front page article in the Wall Street Journal earlier this month refers to the local lawyer and describes the "service corporation" he set up on behalf of the California Pharmaceutical Association as "the first of its kind in the country."

Legal complications have proved to be stumbling blocks on which past attempts to introduce drug insurance have frequently faltered, the Wall Street Journal explains.

"Government clearance culminated lengthy and careful negotiations and discussions between Anti-Trust Division Officials and James Robert Nielsen, a young lawyer in Carmel Valley, California, who also teaches pharmacy law at the University of California," added an article in the national trade publication, Drug News Weekly, on March 8.

The mechanics of the new drug insurance plan ar e "patterned after Diners Club and other crecard systems," explains a third article -- this one in Federal Drug & Cosmetic Reports for February 22.

California PharmaceuticalServices, Inc., has now signed an agreement to fill prescriptions for some 20,000 members and dependents of the Milk & Ice Cream Employees Welfare Plan in northern California.

Drug News Weekly adds, "It is anticipated that the arrangement will be extended to 300,000 other Teamsters Union members in the next three or four years."

Nielsen set up the service corporation for California Pharmaceutical Association, statewide druggists group which he represents.

Their plan, Nielsen points out, avoids fixed price schedules and allows druggists who are not members of the state association to participate. The group insurance applies to any prescription issued by a licensed physician but does not include crutches, wheelchairs and other items specifically excluded from the agreement.

Nielsen lives on Carmel Valley Road with his wife, Dorothy, and their three youngsters -- Peter, 9, Robin, 7, and Jonathan, four months.

Because of his statewide professional committment, the Nielsens could live anywhere in California - so they chose Carmel Valley, naturally.

Besides commuting to Berkeley every week for his afternoon lecture courses, Nielsen finds time to serve as a member of the board of directors of Carmel Valley Community Center and always accompanies Peter to Cub Scout meetings.

He very much enjoys his teaching duties and strongly advocates that law be taught to all students, not merely those who intend to become lawyers.

Divorces, legacies, accidents with financial consequences, etc. are so common, he avers, that it is a rare individual who will avoid involvement with legal processes at some time during his life.

Most people are afraid of lawyers and legal processes, Jim says, because they don't know enough about them. A client with foreknowledge of his own rights and of legal processes is less fearful and more effectively helped by the law, he explains.

Dr. Greer Guest Speaker At Chapel

Dr. George Greer, retired Methodist minister living in Robles Del Rio, will be guest speaker for four special Lenten services beginning tonight at Carmel Valley Community Chapel.

The series will continue for three more Wednesday evenings, according to Rev. Don Johnson, minister, who will conduct the services.

Under The Oaks and Among The Cactus

BY MILDRED HATTAN

Mrs. Elbert Wade entertained with a luncheon last week at her La Rancheria home for her aunt, Mrs. Jenny M. Clark, who was celebrating her 89th birthday. The special celebration and afternoon of canasta were shared by Mmes. George Sanford, Irving Ollason and Jean De Haas.

Longtime Valley residents Mr. and Mrs. Verne Conley and children, Camille and Beanie, have sold their home in Robles Del Rio and are moving to Fifth and Guadalupe in Carmel.

Their home has been purchased by Mr. and Mrs. William Baugh who have been living in the Berry house on Lower Circle.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack West entertained recently with a slumber party to celebrate the 11th birthday of their daughter, Lynn. Guests enjoyed a birthday dinner of barbecued hot dogs, cake and all the trimmings before "turning in" to the sleeping bags that completely covered the floor of the living room.

Breakfast, games, luncheon, and games was the schedule for the day that followed.

Assisting with the party plans were Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Bushnell.

Lynn's guests were Debbie Gilroy, Debra Linares, Susan King, Patty Miller, Annette and Evie Accosta, Nancy Hoisington, Leslie Campbell and Wendy McCraney. The West family recently moved to the Valley where they are making their home at 89 Paso Hondo. They lived in Pacific Grove for nine years.

Someone very sweet and very tiny (three pounds) was welcomed recently by her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Starr of Los Ranchitos. The infant, Miss Suzanne Edwards, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Tucker of Los Altos. One of the first gifts to Suzanne (who has four brothers) was a dainty dress with frills from her very proud father.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerard H. Gerstl, who made their home for many years in Hitchcock Canyon, have purchased the Upper Circle residence of Mr. and Mrs. Grover Carver. The Carvers, with daughters, Vickie and Nadine, have moved to Monterey.

An "Old Oak Leaf Cluster" to Carmel Valley's Bluebirds!

The 221 members of the Sky Bluebirds are busily completing handmade puppets and rehearsing portions of the productions of "The Wizard of Oz", "Cinderella", and "Goldilocks and the Three Bears."

The girls will present the plays later this month before their mothers and invited guests as a salute to the 25th birthday of Bluebirds, the little sisters of Camp Fire Girls.

The project will also qualify them for a dramatics award. The group, whose leader is Mrs. Glen Lowe, and is assisted by Mrs. George Dwyer, recently earned their homemaking award, a crossed needle and spoon pin.

They made white aprons with sash and trim, place mats and napkins with the Bluebird insignia in preparation for a mother's tea. For a number of weeks they baked cookies in the kitchen at the Community Center, freezing them until there were enough to serve at a tea.

The first award earned in the fall was a leaf pin for identifying five native trees. Plans for the future include field trips to the lighthouses in Pacific Grove and Point Sur.

The $40 earned during the recent candy sale will be enough to finance an overnight campout for the entire group without having to ask for additional financing from parents.

John Goodloe of Ford Road was in charge of arrangements for the very successful conference staged jointly last weekend by the Central Coast section of the California Teachers Association and the Monterey City Educators Assn. for discussion of "new dimensions in instruction."

Goodloe, vice president of the MCEA, estimated 350 teachers, school administrators, and guests attended the sessions at Seaside High School and the luncheon which followed at the Mark Thomas Inn.

Mrs. Irving Ollason, chairman of the annual Spring Fashion Show and Salad Luncheon which will be sponsored by the Carmel Valley Community Chapel Guild March 21, gave a luncheon at her home March 11 for the owners of the shops which will present their fashions for the spring premiere.

Working together on co-ordinating the show were Mmes. Lori Swiess, Grace Maher, Joanne Sears, Jane Young and Virginia Kearns.

They were aided by Mrs. Elbert Wade, co-ordinator; Mrs. John S. Power, publicity, and Mrs. Thomas B. McKiernon, president of the guild.

Lt. Col. (ret.) Carl J. Maiser was feted with a surprise birthday dinner last Sunday at Reuben's Dinner House. When Mrs. Maiser, who had planned the evening, became ill, her sister, Miss Ethylyn Hartwell, of Cheyene, Wyoming, graciously assumed the role of hostess.

Among the gifts was a caged stuffed lion whose talking antics delighted the entire crowd.

Those attending were Lt. Cmdr. and Mrs. Robert Kirkseys, Mr. and Mrs. Nick Skalyo, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hitchcock, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Golden, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Perry, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Corona, Mr. and Mrs. William Walker and Cmdr. and Mrs. William Stowers.

Strains of sea chanties and small fry issuing nautical commands may be due to influence of the latest piece of play yard equipment at the Co-operative Nursery.

A suggestion by Cliff Dwyer to convert the deck covering the Nursery's wheel toys into a ship was picked up by Mr. A. W. Wolf. He elaborated on plans to give the children a ship complete with cabin, bunks, steering house, upper deck, ladder, portholes, wheels and a flagpole. It sets sail daily on an imaginary cruise. Fathers assisting with the building were George Dwyer, Dick Frazer and I. R. Crichton.

FCC Approves Erection of KSBW TV Translator on Tularcitos Ridge

SALINAS-- The Federal Communications Commission has approved an application for erection of a television translator station in Upper Carmel Valley.

The permit was announced last week by the management of KSBW, Channel 8.

The station will be built on an 1,800-foot peak of Tularcitos Ridge on property of Norman A. Miller, KSBW officials said.

Work is being rushed to permit operation by April 25. Equipment will be completely automated and will function unattended except for periodic inspection.

The station will pick up the Channel 8 signal, "translate" it to Channel 13 and rebroadcast it down the Valley.

The signal area will extend to a mile east of Robinson Canyon, according to KSBW engineers.

Because TV signals travel in a straight line, residents who can see the Ridge should receive an improved picture on Channel 13 they added.

Army Engineers Begin Study—Fifth One—of Flood Control Needs

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers is about to undertake Study No. 5 of needed flood control measures on Carmel River.

The announcement came from Lt. Col. Robert H. Allan, district engineer of the Army Engineer District Corps of Engineers headquartered in San Francisco.

"Funds have been received which permit starting a flood plain information study for the Carmel River," Allan said.

"This study should be completed in about two years and the results will be made available to Monterey County."

This will be the fifth study of the need for local flood control problems. The Army performed similar studies in 1941, '46, '55 and '58.

The situation proceeded as far as the hearing stage in 1957, but no further.

Allan noted that the study is be ing made "to evaluate the flood hazard along the Carmel river" and "as a basis for planning and managing the use of land in the flood plain."

"As the flood plains of rivers continue to develop and men continue to encroach more and more upon the areas required to carry floodflows, flood damages continue to increase," says a brochure published by the Corps of Engineers.

The brochure, entitled "Flood Plain Information Studies," adds:

"This increase can be minimized by regulating the use of flood plains."

Such regulation does not prohibit use of land, however, the Corps notes. It defines the type of activity suitable for a given location.

"The decision concerning the permitted use of the flood plains is entirely a local responsibility." the brochure points out.

"And any regulations that may be established must meet community requirements."

Carmel River has overflowed its banks 10 times since the worst flood of this century in 1911.

Following a flooded winter in 1956, Carmel Valley residents petitioned for an Army Engineers study of the problem.

But an Army offer to clear a channel 100-150 feet wide was rejected, despite federal offers to contribute up to $100,000. This was the entire estimated cost of the project.

"The residents were not ready to accept the responsibility of future maintenance costs," according to Col. S.T.B. Johnson, immediate superior to district engineer Allan in January.

March 2, 1965

Dear Betty:

For many years, as a County Supervisor, I tried to alert residents of Carmel Valley to the necessity of locating homes and businesses to avoid flood damage. New home purchasers were especially likely to be flooded quite unsuspectedly.

Tom Hudson and I have encouraged Carmel Valley residents, particularly those near or under the "flood plain" to join together to take preventive measures. The more the Valley builds and develops, the larger the disaster we can expect.

Previous efforts to study and plan flood control projects were scoffed at as unnecessary interference with private property rights, or excessively expensive for those directly affected.

Persons who own lowland property supposedly acquired it with full knowledge of the risks of flood damage and presumably paid accordingly. Persons who purchased upland properties also presumably did so with flood and price considerations in mind.

So, naturally, the proper proration of the costs of planning, construction and maintenance of flood control projects must be solved.

The announced flood plain information survey for the Carmel River is being accomplished under general authority given the Chief of Engineers. Its purpose is to compile information on flood plains and disseminate it widely among local officials for use in determining the best possible use of these plains while yet providing for run-off of flood waters. Normally, a map of a river basin is developed delineating 10 year and 50 year flood plains; that is, the magnitude of floods which may be expected once in every 10 years and in 50 years.

The flood plain survey report generally does not recommend construction of any flood prevention projects. However, it is conceivable that a further study of a flood control project may be recommended.

The present survey is estimated to cost between $25,000 and $30,000 and should be completed before June 30, 1966. It should prove helpful in planning for the best usage of land in the Carmel River flood plain. If additional Federal assistance is indicated from the final report, I shall welcome the opportunity to continue to help.

Warm personal regards.

Sincerely,

Burt L. Talcott

Chapel Guild Thrift Shop Expands Quarters On Its First Anniversary in Valley Village

By LAURA NORTON

Celebrating its first anniversary this month is the Community Chapel Thrift Shop. A successful year with over $2,000 profit has encouraged the Guild ladies to round up a building crew to enlarge their quarters above the Sunday school wing of the church.

The shop is being expanded to twice its present size by a crew of volunteer carpenters under the direction of Walter Mauzey, church grounds committee chairman.

The shop accomplishes three useful purposes, according to Mrs. Marjorie McKiernan, Women's Guild president and guiding light of the project:

It is an economical source of supply for clothing and home furnishings.

It enables people to get rid of useful things they no longer need but don't want to throw away.

It earns money for the Chapel general fund.

Mrs. McKiernan gives credit for the shop's success to 24 members of the Guild who work as salesladies and to the fine response of Carmel Valley shoppers.

Children like to shop there for presents for friends and family and find it a good source of "dress-up" clothes; teen agers buy magazines to cut up for school projects and keep a sharp eye on the record shelf; families with cabins to furnish find every thing from pots and pans to bedsteads, and opportunists browse there in hopes that an antique may turn up in disguise.

The shop is open every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. The ladies in charge also give special service. If someone needs an article they don't have in stock, they will phone if it comes in.

Women who work two-by-two, one day a week, include Mmes. Raymond Danielson, Walter Mauzey, Morton Goodsell, George Greer, Guy Freeman, Merle Johnson, John Hughes, Robert Ray, Veneta Neilsen, Calvin Garner, Robert Davis, John Anderson, Richard Lee, James May, Elbert Wade, Joseph Murphy, Donald Waylett, Fred Myler, Larry Busick, Mabel Love, Stella Miller, Robert Fee, Ed Capon and John Mark.

Articles donated to the shop never go to waste, Mrs. McKiernan points out.

If a donation fails to find a customer in the Valley, it is picked up by the Goodwill Industries which will renovate and refinish it make it salable.

The Thrift Shop was launched last March by the Women's Guild. Leaders were and are still besides Mrs. McKiernan, Mrs. Joseph Murphy, chairman in charge of recruiting workers, Mrs. Donald Waylett, Mrs. Norton Goodsell and Mrs. Fred Mylar.

They are aided by the Rev. Don Johnson who originally suggested the idea and Mr. Jay Bathbun, a former business manager for Goodwill now overseeing and advising the workers.

Two of the women workers are members of other Valley churches, having left the Community Chapel when churches of their denomination were built.

The Chapel, welcoming all denominations, was originally the only Protestant Church in the area.

Mrs. Murphy is St. Dunstan's Epi and Mrs. Garner of the First Baptis ladies are still loy pel Guild.

for that purpose!

The innate curiosity of children will impress on their minds the purpose of the institution as they go back and forth to school. This would certainly not be a good influence on them.

With hundreds of acres of land available a few miles from the Village, another more suitable location should be found!

As we in the "Village" have no police protection, who is to say that one of the patients would not wander away and revert to terrorize someone in the neighborhood: these things do happen and we cannot close our eyes and say, "It can't happen here!"

The Walnut Grove would be a perfect location for a lovely retirement home for refined people who would love to live here near our, "Little Country Style Village."

The question was asked, "Why wasn't the opposition before?" The reason was, that the whole matter of the "Institution: was sprung on the "Village" so suddenly that no one had time to oppose it! There was no time to gather the necessary details and information!

Isn't it wonderful that we live in a Community that believes in fighting for the betterment of our surroundings instead of sitting back and letting anyone do as they please!

We are using that grand "Freedom" that made our country "great" and yet we love our neighbors and want to help keep the Village a real "Village."

Thank you,
Sincere
Sincerely,
Vera Stokes

Editor:

It is evident that institutions like prisons and asylums for the insane are necessary in a well organized society. It would be highly illogical and even absurd to deny it.

However, the decision to have an institution of the type of Walnut Lodge Foundation located in the immediate vicinity of Carmel Valley Village should be subjected to a very close scrutiny for the following reasons:

1) Every individual with a record of mental illness should be considered capable of perpetrating unforeseen acts. Some of these acts may be harmless, but others may turn out to be highly dangerous to their neighbors.

2) No psychiatrist will ever be able to guarantee that persons so affected will not at some time or other commit acts prejudicial to society.

3) Therefore, if an when the Walnut Lodge Foundation opens its establishment a few hundred yars away from the center of Carmel Valley Village, the peaceful life of this community may well be exposed to quite unexpected complications. The records of law enforcement agencies all over the world show innumerable instances of various misdemeanors and crimes committed by individuals affected by mental diseases. The lists include theft, arson, sexual offenses and even murder.

4) Should the institution in question come to stay, parents would be well advised not to let their childrenplay unattended in the neighborhood. Another measure to be envisaged would be that of escorting the children to and from school.

I strenuously oppose the projected Walnut Lodge Foundation establishment near Carmel Valley Village and I hope that the inhabitants of Carmel Valley will share my point of view.

I am not a business man and do not have any commercial interest to defend. My only purpose is to protect our lovely village and its peaceful life in reasonable security.

K. Rybine
Carmel Valley

Dear Sir:

I'm writing, hoping to clarify some facts on a very vital issue right now in Carmel Valley. I'm referring to the purchase of a property as a "half-way house" for emotionally disturbed people. This purchase is being initiated by a group of persons, all professional, headed by Dr. Robert Goulding, an outstanding local psychiatrist, very competent in the field of emotional rehabilitation, and most recently identified with Dr. Eric Berne's Transactional Analysis method.

It appears that, in spite of the fact that this motion was approved by the County Planning Commission, some of the local people in Carmel Valley have reacted in a negative way, circulating a petition based on incomplete facts and personal, fearful ideas of what is involved.

In the first place, the persons to be in residence at the half-way house will not be the seriously ill, but those ready to make a constructive return to society. The purpose is to provide a supportive atmosphere where now-stabilized persons can make the transition from the hospital to the everyday, work-day world.

I emphasize, the people to live in residence will be those who are almost strong enough and capable enough to move back among us. All that's needed is a place to begin, with understanding guidance available.

Certain people, Dr. Goulding and colleagues, are trying to offer this much-needed help. Nothing is asked of the Carmel Valley residents except permission to carry out this project, backed by dedicated people - nothing more.

Many authorities say 25% of the population will require some attention in this area. Nearly every family has at least one person, traditionally sent to a large institution with only impersonal treatment from the time of arrival until release. This has been found to be detrimental to the quick recovery of persons returning to their everyday responsibilities.

A half-way house in the community will have the best possible atmosphere for a rapid recovery, will be a most effective way to salvage those important to you. People will be admitted on request of their personal physician.

Obviously, we're all involved in the battle for mental health. The people who need emotional help are our relatives, our loved ones, ourselves. Let's open the door to the "family closet" and bring our attitudes in the open where they belong. We owe this to our families, our fellow human beings, and to a more secure future. Sometimes all that's required to make an enormous inroad is a simple "yes."

Sincerely,
Mrs. Helene Bailey

Dear Madam:

I was asked today to sign a petition opposing "Walnut Lodge." The petition was phrased in words which can be described only as corny. The objections to the Lodge were all based on fear: fear of upsetting the status quo in Carmel Valley; disturbing its peace and tranquility; fear of pederasts, etc.

Neither the County or the State will license such institutions which do not meet extremely strict health and custody requirements. No one shall run free in Carmel Valley who is dangerous to the health and welfare of the Valley. (At least, no more so than those who already freely circulate among ready freely circulate among its allegedly normal populace.)

As to its better use as commercial property, perhaps something else would be better. We could allow a trailer court restricted to trailers whose value exceeds - say $20,000. We might even permit another service station providing it pumps only "pre,ium" gasoline.

Whatever we do, let us all be sure to pay lip service to mental "illness" but let us keep skeletons in closets where they belong.

Sincerely,
Marion A. Crush.

Dennis Morgan Provides Rare Treat For Cancer Volunteers

The American Cancer Society's annual kickoff luncheon last week provided a rare treat for guests.

The guest of honor was Dennis Morgan, motion picture stage and television star.

Accompanied by Angela Machado of the Monterey Peninsula College music department, he sang "One Alone," "Oh, What a Beautiful Morning" and several Irish ballads.

Morgan, state chairman for this year's cancer crusade, spoke to more than 150 volunteers and officers of the cancer society from throughout Monterey County at the Mark Thomas Inn.

His voice "broke badly," however, according to one official, as he described his feelings of helplessness when his closest and oldest friend -- a big, hearty man -- told him the tragic news.

"Dennis, I've got 'big C.' There isn't any hope..."

Morgan's friend was Jack Carson. He is gone now, but there is hope for millions of others, Morgan said.

Help comes through the education that makes early identification of the disease possible and through the research that will find the answers.

The crusade will be held in April locally. Exact dates will be announced later.

Past state chairmen have included William Holden, William Gargan and Gregory Peck.

Junior High Students To Show Art Skills

The regular general meeting of the Carmel Junior High School Parent-Faculty Club will take place Tuesday, March 23, at 7:30 p.m. in the school library.

Warren Edwards, principal of Carmel High School, will give a brief talk on the new extra-curricula program for Carmel students, designed to take advantage of the opportunities in arts and humanities in this area.

Afterwards, parents will tour the arts and crafts departments to see a display of "Arts in Action" as students demonstrate techniques used in Art, Crafts, industrial Arts, and Home Economics. Refreshments will follow the meeting.

An Answer To Young Republicans

Humanitarian considerations require sympathy and understanding. A business community lacking concern for human values is like salt that has lost its flavor — worthless. Let those who do not object to the Halfway House at Walnut Lodge make themselves heard in the community and county seat, in a spirit of compassion for those who need our help and understanding.

Association Slates Horse Show for Juniors Here

Directors of the Carmel Valley Horsemen's Association are making final preparations for the coming horse show season.

To start the ball rolling, the Annual Junior Show, to be judged by George Scovel, will be March 28, for those 17 years of age and less.

Most of the events will be broken into two classes -- 12 and less, and 13-17. There will be a novice class for those 8 and less at the walk and trot only.

Trophies will be awarded for first, ribbons to 4th and a high point award -- a horse blanket.

Entry blanks may be found at Carmel Valley Market, Village Market, The Grapevine, Young Shoes, Farm Center, the Hayloft and most Western wear stores, or from show secretary Jackie Cagianut at 455-1988.

Entries close March 19, with a double fee charged for post entries.

All 1965 and future shows will be held at the Carmel Valley Trail & Saddle Grounds on Garzas Road.

An annual monetary award will be given to "the most deserving local youth." This is not to be a high point award, but will be given as an incentive to the youth showing the most initiative, good character and sincere interest.

Coming events will include the May 2 Interclub Show, August 15-17 Annual Roundup and September 26, second annual Registered Quarter Horse Show.

SOME OF THE MEMBERS of Miss Lillian Hoehn's fourth grade class at Tularcitos School review in the classroom their visit to Monterey's historic Custom House.

Many of them wrote letters thanking curator Barbara Burdick for taking them on tour at the Custom House. Several letters, plus more photos of the Custom House are included on pages 18 and 19.

Last Audubon Movie in Series

Wildlife photographer Robert C. Hermes will present a film on the delta of the Orinoco River in Venezuela as the last in a series of Audubon Society wildlife films in Pacific Grove Tuesday.

The film, which Hermes photographed in color, is entitled "Delta of the Orinoco."

It will be shown at 8 p.m. in the Pacific Grove Junior High School Auditorium on Forest Avenue.

Tickets -- at $1.25 for adults and 50 cents for students -- are available at the Camera Craft Shop in Carmel, Poor Scholar Bookshop in Monterey and Pacific Grove Museum.

CHS Debaters Win Honors

Carmel High School debaters won third place in a recent Forensic League Debating tournament in which six schools took part.

The team of Roger Fonseca and Jon Gamble, debating in the A division which includes cross-examination as well as prepared speeches, won two of their three rounds and lost only to the first-place team of Jerry Youkey and Barry Norwood from Seaside.

In the B division, Jay Lang and Robin Kvenild also took two wins; Tom Hudson partnered by Ron Bucher and Janet Sheingold teamed with Marian Reed won one round apiece.

In addition to the debaters, prospective teams of Kris Vosburgh and Linda Finlayson, Diane Davis and Bev Spencer attended the tournament as observers. A month ago, Carmel had only one active team.

In accidents in which the victim was responsible for the accident, 59 per cent had been drinking, reports the California State Automobile Association.

Laky Galleries Open Showing Of O'Shea, Late Carmel Artist

What may well be the most important art exhibition on the Monterey Peninsula -- at least in the past decade -- opened last Saturday at the Laky Galleries on San Carlos Street in Carmel. The comprehensive showing consists of 33 watercolors and oils of the late John O'Shea.

A giant of an artist, Mr. O'Shea prior to his death in April of 1956 at the age of 75, was the recognized dean of Carmel artists when this was an exciting group on the California and national scene.

He was an Irish-American who emigrated to the United States when a youth of 16, in 1897. He first came to California in 1914, when he settled in Pasadena. Shortly afterward he moved to Carmel and settled on the Monterey Peninsula following his marriage to the former Molly O'Shaughnessy in 1922 , after a wedding trip to Europe.

John O'Shea was a distinguished member and director of the Carmel Art Association in its heyday. With O'Shea as president, the Association took its first steps toward enlarging on a physical and cultural scale.

He was one of the guiding forces in the organization that helped it attain the stature it has today.

The artist was a travelled man. In oil, watercolor and charcoal he captured the essence of a well-remembered world -- the South Seas, Hawaii, the deserts and mountains of California and Arizona, and most of all the ocean of his beautiful Central Pacific Coast.

These last, the seascapes, were outstanding, bringing him honor and world recognition in the field. They were all done of our Peninsula Coast and are treasures of the wildness and beauty of the sea, sand and rock "before the white man cometh."

Because of his Tahitian period, from which came some of his best color work, O'Shea has often been compared to Gauguin, in a number of instances coming out the favored. His "savage vegetation," "lagoons of lovely color, prismatic in effect" and "fat, lush atmosphere with a tremendous radiance" were the inspiration for many of his most brilliant canvases, particularly the famed "Bananas."

O'Shea's work hangs in fine collections and major museums.

He is one of the few ligitimately important artists to rise from the art community of the Monterey Peninsula and this opportunity to see his work in some depth at the Laky Galleries is a rare one. The show lasts through April 4 and is excellent.

All Saints Performance Enhances 'Satisfying Service'

Music On Peninsula

By Mary Lindsay-Oliver

One of the most satisfying services of music heard in any church took place Sunday at All Saints in Carmel; a performance of Gabriel Faure's beautiful Requiem with its significance for Lent.

Under the direction of John Gosling and Robert Forbes, 30 men's and women's voices projected the sympathetic and stirring phrases of the work from the chancel in front of the altar. In a reverent manner with good volume of tone and nuances that included impressive pianissimo endings.

The French Faure composed in many forms and generally with inspiration, as in the Requiem which is a memorial for the dead. Such music lifts, inspires and makes the listener think.

Indeed, all really inspired music can be regarded as tones from the Almighty whose fundamental harmony is always available and does not change with the vagaries of mortals who cannot hear it. Unfortunately, musical composition today is often carried away with mental experiments to nowhere.

That which completes harmony is always concord. Discord has its dramatic use but if not ultimately resolved it remains outside of spiritual satisfaction or conclusion.

The Requiem is full of piety, profound compassion and aspiration. Like Handel's Messiah it should be performed annually.

Six extra instruments were added to the organ, Owen Dunsford on violin; Kenneth Robertson and Edmund Hampton, violas; Louise Vadetsky and Ruby Harlan, cellos; and Barbara Doerschler, harp. Harriet Bird, soprano, and Jed Springfield, baritone, were good soloists.

SUSIE DU BETS, a member of the Carmel Youth Center, will be one of the models at the annual spring fashion show scheduled for the center on Friday, March 19 at 8:15 p.m. Girls' ensembles from Gladys McCloud's and boys' outfits from Boys Town will be shown.

Planet Show Features Sun At Hartnell

A new planetarium show demonstrating the relationships of "Our Sun's Family" will begin at Hartnell College Tuesday evening, it was announced today by planetarium director Clarence Dickinson.

The public is invited to the shows every Tuesday 7:15 and 8:30. There is no charge and no reservations are required except for large groups.

According to Dickinson, "We want to examine the links and the concerted action of a pale, yellow, dwarf star (our sun) and nine planets, 32 moons, billions of comets and the thousands of planetoids between Mars and Jupiter.

"This show literally has a cast of billions."

New Date For Kite Festival

The Carmel kite festival, postponed last weekend because of wet grounds, has been re-scheduled for Saturday, March 27, on the athletic fields of the junior high school.

Looking too utterly chic to be believable was petite Mrs. Richard Dick, glimpsed at the post office just before she winged her way to a meeting in Los Angeles.

Hard to believe that Ollie is an officer of the Mother's Club of a college sorority, but that's what the meeting was about: Delta Delta Delta of University of Southern California, that is.

Bob's Corner HOUSEHOLD HINTS

BY BOB LAMBERT

Owner of Valley Appliance Sales & Service 659-4039.

HINT of the Week - Electric ovens equipped with broiler controls should be left in the bake position, rare position, high position, when using the oven for other normal uses. Otherwise, the broil element will not do its intended job during the baking process.

DEAR BOB: I have always been told that you need a lot of suds on the top of your wash water to get your clothes clean. But some of the detergents I have been trying do not produce many suds. Why?
MRS. L.M.

DEAR MRS. L.M. - When washing machines were first produced they used mostly soaps which produced great quantities of suds. The suds helped in the washing cycle by trapping lint. Most of the modern day washers have lint filters to do this job. Hence, the manufacturers of detergents can and do produce detergents with low sudsing agents. This allows the mechanical portions of the automatic washer to function more freely. --BOB

Occidental Program At Sunset School

Ruth Ann Botten of Carmel Valley and Dwight Edman of Monterey are local members of the Occidental College Wind Ensemble which will play at Sunset Auditorium, Carmel, on Friday, March 26 at 8 p.m.

A choir composed of 16 clarinets will perform a special arrangment of a Mozart quintet movement; most of the other numbers are by contemporary composers.

Admission is $1 for adults and 75¢ for students. The Carmel High School Padre Band is sponsoring the concert, which is one of 19 to be performed on the 50-piece group's tour of southern and Central California.

MPC Board Candidate Presented

Two groups of Valley residents were invited to coffee hours at local homes recently to meet Ralph Atkinson, the first declared candidate for the board of trustees of Monterey Peninsula College.

Twenty-five friends met Atkinson at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Sigourney and Mrs. Paul Haberfeld was hostess to a similar gathering at her home on Carmel Valley Road.

Atkinson, a resident of Bixby Landing, is a semi-retired chemical engineer.

He moved to Monterey County in 1957 and has since been active in civic affairs, currently serving in two major capacities.

He is president of the Coast Property Owners Association and is chairman of the Highland-Bixby Advisory Committee to the County Planning Commission.

A graduate of Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass., and of MIT, he has maintained a continuing interest in higher education.

He has served as chairman of the MIT Scholarship Committee of Southern California and has been a member of the visiting committee for the MIT physics department.

Recently he was active in support of the MPC bond issue.

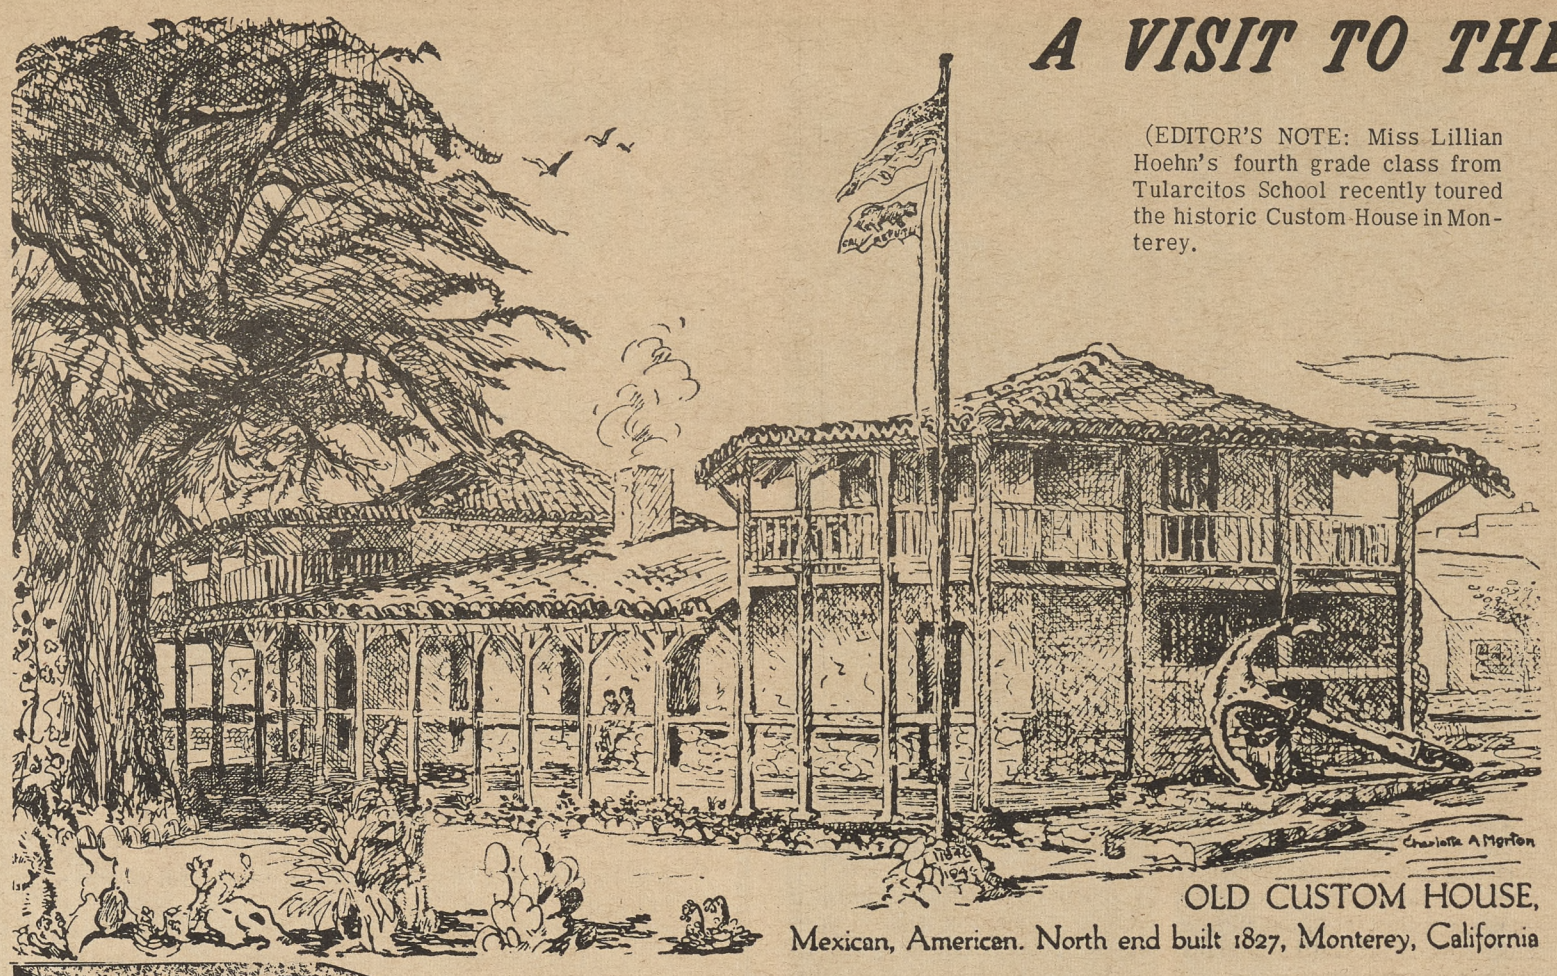
A VISIT TO THE CUSTOM HOUSE



OLD CUSTOM HOUSE,
Mexican, American. North end built 1827, Monterey, California

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Miss Lillian Hoehn's fourth grade class from Tularcitos School recently toured the historic Custom House in Monterey.

(Upon their return, class members each wrote letters to curator Barbara Burdick, thanking her for the visit.

(The following are selected letters from those sent to Miss Burdick. Photos were provided by the Custom House.)

Dear Miss Burdick,

Thank you for showing and telling us about so many interesting things in the Custom House.

When we were downstairs, you told a real live story about Commodore John Drake Sloat when he put a flag into the ground. You said that a few years later some men came and were looking for this flag but they couldn't find it.

They said to each other, "Where is the flag?" They couldn't believe that anyone would take such an important flag.

So they thought, "Maybe it broke and part of it is still in the ground." So they started to dig...They dug all the way around the Custom House and they found all kinds of things!

In one corner of the Custom House, a man found Indian things like bones, Indian arrow heads, and many more treasures.

In another corner, a man found a post upright, and they thought it was the flag pole so they dug it up. There was the post and a piece of flag left, and it still remains in the Custom House.

RESTORATION—The Custom House during its restoration period, 1901-03. Note original adobe visible in center section.

...I thought it was interesting about the guards that went upstairs and out on the balcony looking for ships that came right up to the Custom House. You said in those days the water came right up to the Custom House.

...I learned so many things that I didn't know about. So thank you very much, Miss Burdick, for letting Miss Hoehn's class come to the Custom House.

Your friend,
Manual Mancebo

Dear Miss Burdick,

Thank you for showing us around in the Custom House. The flag pole, the old fashioned dresses, the different kinds of guns and rifles, the grandfather's clock, the chests and the old coins were most interesting.

I am curious as to what the box in the safe contains. I was thinking it might be gold.

Yours truly,
Bob Poulos

Dear Miss Burdick,

It was very nice of you to let us visit you at the Custom House. I liked the harpoon gun that you showed us.

I enjoyed seeing the clothes of Capt. Cooper because I know Mrs. Cooper and she was the wife of one of his sons. I live near her. She has three grandchildren: Johnny, Susan and the baby.

Yours truly,
Denice Forzani

Second High School In Five Years, Neill Tells Kiwanis

A second high school and another junior high school are in the offing in the Carmel Unified School district in from five to seven years.

This was the prediction of Clayton Neill, Jr., school board member, in a talk to Carmel Valley Kiwanis club last Tuesday at Los Laureles Lodge. A Carmel Valley resident, he is an engineer in Carmel.

On the lowest tax rate on the Monterey Peninsula, Carmel schools boast the best teacher-pupil ratio, Neill pointed out. The Carmel district's tax rate is $2.57 per $100 assessed valuation, and has a favorable ratio of 25 students per teacher, compared to 33 to 1 in Monterey and 32 to 1 in Pacific Grove.

Carmel School district also spends the most per pupil, $650 compared to about $450 in Monterey and Pacific Grove and a state average of $510. This is possible because of the high assessed valuation of $65 million for the district and the smaller proportion of children in the area.

Neill cited the advantage of the "non-graded" system of the schools, which permits students to advance at the rate they can achieve. Students are required to take English throughout their school careers, three years of history, two of math and one of science.

About 80 per cent of the students graduates from Carmel High go on to college and about half of these finish four years of college.

The district has planned ahead by purchasing three future school sites in Carmel Valley.

Two are 10-acre elementary school sites, one off Robinson Canyon Road beside the river and the other about a mile above the Village, adjacent to Rancho Carmelo, below Leo Berta's home. A 20-acre junior high site is at the intersection of Scarlet and Carmel Valley Roads.

Realtor Herb Brownell commented that such fore-sight will save the district from $150,000 to $200,000 at least.

Calling the local school district "big business," Neill explained that the annual budget is $2.1 million.

There are 145 full-time teachers and 50 classified empolyees. They serve 2,800 students in the high school and seven elementary schools.

There is also an adult program for 300 and a summer recreation program for 1,500 children. About 20 per cent of the population in the district is directly served by the schools, Neill said.

The speaker was introduced by Lou Gardner.

Bob Lambert suggested the Kiwanis club sponsor a "turkey shoot" marksmanship competition on a regular basis as a money-raising project. It could be tied into a youth rifle-safety program, he added.

Lambert is also handling a model airplane project for local children at Tularcitos school.

Joe Ricupero announced the club bowling team has fought its way to a first-place tie. The local club will sponsor a Kiwanis division 24 bowling tournament Sunday, May 2, he said.

Carmel High Sports News

By JOHN WRIGHT

The Carmel High swimming team brought home its first victory of the season when it defeated Pacific Grove 68-26 on Thursday at the Carmel pool.

The Padre mermen took nine firsts, six seconds and one third while Pacific Grove took two firsts, five seconds, and seven thirds.

Bud Smith turned in a fine performance for Carmel by winning the 50 yard and 100 yard freestyle races. He also swam a leg of the winning 200 yard freestyle relay. Riovo picked up both of Pacific Grove's firsts when he won the 200 yard individual medley and the 400 yard freestyle.

With only six members the Carmel lightweight team scored a slim victory over the Pacific Grove lightweights. The final score was 40 to 34.

The team's next meet is today at 4 against Live Oak in the Carmel pool. In the first meet of the season Carmel finished second behind Live Oak in the MTAL Relays at Live Oak.

In the first game of the season the baseball team defeated the high school alumni 5 to 2. The varsity scored two runs in the first inning, one in the second, and two in the fourth to get five runs on six hits.

The alumni scored one run each of the sixth and seventh innings to get two runs on three hits.

Winning pitcher was Jerry Huff and losing pitcher was Gordy Miyamoto.

The game was rather confused as neither team followed the official batting order.

Starring for the alumni were Jason Harbert and Jim Kelsey. Represented were the classes of 1942, 1943, 1946, 1950, 1951 and 1953.

Non-Grade School Topic Of Talk

The non-graded high school will be the topic of discussion at Sunset Auditorium in Carmel Thursday at 8 p.m.

Dr. B. Frank Brown, principal of non-graded Melbourne, Fla., High School, will explain his program in a public meeting sponsored by Carmel Unified School District.

The session is one of a series designed to acquaint the public with educational areas undergoing exploration in other communities.

The Melbourne High Curricula is based on an abandonment of grade levels and no study hall, along with programs broadened to twice the normal scope.

The results of Brown's changes in the school included a dropout decline to 4 per cent, college entrance increase from 40 to 70 per cent and the school having two Westinghouse Talent Search winners in two years.
